GUIDE FOR THE MAINTENANCE OF (TREATED) LEATHER

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR ITS CLEANING.

For treating stains on this leather type, it is recommended the use of cleaning products that have been specifically developed for Pytón and that we are proposing in our website. Anyway, there are some tips on how to treat them in general:

- Stains like tomato, chocolate, soft drinks, etc.
Wipe off with lukewarm and mild soap damp cotton cloth. Let it dry preferably with air (with a vacuum cleaner or hairdryer).
- In the event of dirt produced by mud, soil, etc. just let it dry off and brush them smoothly. Then, pass a vacuum cleaner and if the stain persists, act as mentioned above (classic stains).
- To avoid that stain draws into the material, remove it immediately.
- Do not briskly rub the stain. Wipe off any excess with some cloth and with blotting or dabbing motion, work from the edge of the stain inwards to prevent it spreading and soaks its texture.
- Do never try to rub generic home detergent into the stain (like oily substances or solvents with chemical or acid compounds since they could alter the inherent quality of the leather itself).
- Kindly use cleaning products that have been recommended for that use but, if not available, use a soft damp cloth moistened with mild pH neutral soap.
- Dry cleaning I not recommended since it may damage the protection finish of the leather.
- Regular cleaning and maintenance (passing a vacuum cleaner or cloth over the surface frequently) prevents dirt from attaching itself to the leather and ensures optimum performance of your upholstery. Apply moisturizer or horse grease (in less quantity, because of its degree of absorption) every 4 to 5 months, to use it often in winter.

May we draw your attention to any responsibility exemption from stains provoked by pen, jeans or other fabrics not duly fixed in their dyeing process that may rub off onto the upholstery leather. To minimize their effect, it is recommended to treat it with a diluted alcohol damp cloth.

Perspirations effects should be also highlighted since it is consisted of sour agents that may affect its tanning structure. The wear-out effect can be minimized if, before it soaks, you clean it with water and pH neutral soap damp cloth, drying the affected area properly. Then, wipe off leftovers with lukewarm water and dry preferably with hairdryer or vacuum cleaner, or failing them, rub dry with soft cloth. Do not leave it to dry in the sun.

Tips for maintaining your sofa.

Professional cleaning and care for your home.

This cleaning set that we are introducing you has been specially conceived and developed for the proper care of your upholstery in:

LEATHER (treated leather)

At Pytón we know about the concern of providing a healthy environment at home and therefore we are bent on contributing solutions that investigation and technology are helping us to submit.

In this context, kindly allow us to suggest you the better way to get the best results in their cleaning.

- Brush dust daily.
- Treat stains immediately, specially those provoked by dyestuff that has not been fixed correctly like jeanswear, by spilling, sweat, etc. so that they do not soak and draw into the material.
- Do not place the piece of furniture near extreme heat or cold sources.
- Do try that halogen lamps (warm light) do not focus directly over the upholstered unit.
- Do never use everyday domestic care products and specially avoid: polishes, window cleaners, dry foam or other chemical compounds that have not been recommended and that may seriously affect your upholstery.
- Apply moisturizer every month, in addition to the one that is used and included in the cleaning procedure.

These guidelines, along with right handling in accordance with our advice on our care record, will enable you to long-term enjoying the comfort and quality of what we hope it is a special piece at your home.

THE CLEANING SET FOR LEATHER (TREATED LEATHER) IS MADE UP OF:

- Contents:
 - o Cleanser 1 200 ml
 - o Moisturizer 1 200 ml
 - o Microfibre cloth 1 (white 50x30)

These products have been conceived to remove nutrient, fat or persistent dirt left and make it possible to maintain the ductility and properties inherent to the original attributes of the leather.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE

On the base that impurities are wiped off daily with some soft-haired brush, this proceeding shall be enhanced by using the soap cleanser of the set weekly.

First you should shake the cleanser bottle and then spray gently and homogenously the zone to be treated, at a distance of about 20 cm.

Let repose a few seconds to let the solution work on the fabric, then dry it with the white cloth provided by the set for that use.

In the event of organic stains (tomato, soft drinks, sauces, etc.) it is important to treat them immediately in order to avoid them soak the fibres.

Remove excess fluid with some clean cloth.

The procedure may need to be repeated. Treated surface can be brushed smoothly.

The cleanser has been actually formulated so that it can be applied daily.

It is recommended, after treating leather with the cleanser, to apply the moisturizer of the cleaning set in order to keep leather well hydrated. Our moisturizer is providing with waterproof and anti-static protection besides of enhancing elasticity and smoothness to extend the life of the upholstery.

Before applying the moisturizer, make sure that the surface to be treated is dry. Damp the cloth included in our set with the moisturizing product or spray a small quantity of it uniformly.

Then dry and polish with the cloth.

Remark: We should advice the user that stains provoked by pen, sweat or discolouring are, depending on their intensity, rather difficult to treat without affecting the structure of the leather so that we cannot guarantee their complete removal with the organic compounds with which this cleaning set is formulated, specifically studied in order not to alter these qualities.
